AMUSEMENTS

Bijou—"Salome Jane," Lublu—"Vaudeville."

Almost Professional.

We have had many an amateur production, but never "Little Tooty." Not only were there many in the audience last night who had witnessed the performance the night before, but this reviewer, who, in all modesty, believes that he is somewhat hard to please, dropped in at the Academy last night just to "look at the house," and was unable to tear himself away. With its few imperfections corrected, the performance was no entrancing in its smoothness, its cleverness, and its general attractiveness, that it was a genuine treat to see and hear it all over again.

In all sincerity, it comes nearer being a professional production of a very high class than any amateur performance that I can recall, and one regrets that there were only two nights of it.

"The Chocolate Soldier."

The coming of "The Chocolate Soldier" in the hands of the famous Whitney Opera Company to the Academy Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and Thursday matinee of next week, recalls those other operatic organizations, "The Bostonians" and the McCaull Opera Company, which made the three producing companies of opera famous for their musical artistry. With them no star was deemed sufficient to carry the work alone. It was always a grouping of singers and players that assured the even excellence of even the smallest parts. As E. C. Whitney surrounded Mme. Schumann-Heink in "Love's Lottery" with a brilliant cast, so he credited with providing "The Chocolate Soldier" with a full cast of musical ability, and music-lovers are to have the added delight of again hearing the great Whitney Opera Comique Orchestra.

MORAN AND GANTT FACE EACH OTHER BY THE MANAGER

Two Great College Pitchers Rivals in Game at Durham. Trinity Loses.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Durham, N. C., May 9.—Before 1,000 people Trinity went down in defeat before Washington and Lee this afternoon in the most exciting game of the season by the score of 9 to 6.

Two giants, Moran and Bob Gantt, were pitted against each other, and both seemed to be not in the best of form, as both were hit freely.

The game was replete with wild throws and run getting. Bundy was easily the star of the game in the batting line, getting four clean singles out of the first four times at the bat, and getting safe on an error in the fifth trip.

Scoring began in the first for Trinity. Bundy singled and Cooper was safe on third's error. Both advanced on a passed ball, and on a second passed ball Bundy scored.

Washington and Lee scored one in the second. Erwin singled, and stole, but was caught at third on Turbyfill's grounder. Turbyfill stole second and scored from there on an infield hit by Moran.

Washington and Lee scored five in the third. Smith hit a grounder to short, who threw it away, and Smith circled the bases. Webster fanned, but went to second on the catcher's missing the ball. Donahue walked, and Brown was hit, filling the bases. Erwin fanned, but Turbyfill singled, scoring Webster and Donahue. Peeples hit to the infield, and was safe, filling the bases again. Moran singled, and scored Brown and Turbyfill.

Trinity scored five runs in the same inning. Bundy and Cooper singled and West hit to short, who threw wild to second, and Bundy scored on Turbyfill's error of Thompson's fly. Cooper by Gantt, who stole second. Thompson got into a chase between third and home, and scored. Gantt scored on Henderson's fly to right. This completed Trinity's run getting.

Washington and Lee added three more to its credit in the eighth. Erwin doubled, Turbyfill walked, and Peeples was safe on Short's error. Erwin scored on an infield hit, and Turbyfill and Peeples scored on Smith's two-bagger.

HAD GRAVE DUG BEFORE HE DIED

Man Who Thought End Was Near Now on Road to Recovery.

Fearing that death was imminent, Robert D. Walton, of 580 North Avenue, Brookland Park, a victim of locomotor ataxia, more than a week ago ordered that his grave be prepared. Efforts were made to dissuade him, but to no avail. He compelled his sister to go to the sexton of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Henrico county, and have him open the ground to receive his body, after he should answer his last call. The aged sexton at first declined to dig a grave for a live man, declaring that he had been in charge of the cemetery since two years before the Civil War, and yet had to fix the last resting place for any person who still held the breath of life.

Mrs. E. F. Smithers, a sister of Mr. Walton, forced the reluctant sexton to take up his pick and spade and excavate the grave. This was done last Sunday week.

The vacant spot, ready to receive its burden, attracted attention a few days after it continued empty, and speculation by visitors to the church yard led to the story of the strange request. It has caused unusual comment in Barton Heights and Brookland Park.

It is understood that though Mr. Walton had a relapse, more than a week ago, his condition is improving.

HOUSE TOPPLES OVER

Barber, Half-Shaved Customer and Others Escaped as Walls Fell About Their Ears.

Worried by the preceding rumbling of falling timbers everywhere in the double house at 7 and 9 North Seventeenth Street, which crashed yesterday morning, escaped to the street and no one was hurt.

The building is occupied by William Lewis, a barber, and Herman Byrnes, clothier. Lewis was shaving a customer at the time the house began to fall in, and the customer rushed out into the street just half-shaved. But the shaver for his life was close enough and he didn't mind the other.

The walls cracked first near the roof and fell in on second floor, carrying that down and demolishing all the furniture, and general outfit from J. L. Cottrell, of 1004 Boulevard, from whom he rented a room, and was arrested with the clothes on. The charge of escaping from a road gang will be tried in Chesterfield county.

The case against Pemberton Johnson, alias Perkins, colored, charged with breaking into the home of William Clayton, 223 Moore Street, and stealing therefrom a quantity of clothing, was continued to this morning. William Hollins, colored, was convicted of the charge of running a policy shop at Tenth and Cary Streets, and was fined $100 and sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Green Evans, colored, was fined $100 and placed under $100 security for twelve months for carrying a concealed dirk.

Charles Hewitt, escaped convict, Gets Four Months for Stealing Clothes.

Robert Loney and Jack Bell, two of the negroes who were engaged in the small riot Monday afternoon in "Bloodfield," were fined $10 and placed under $100 security each for thirty days in Police Court yesterday.

Edgar Layne, also colored, charged with hurrying a brick at Bell, was fined $10 and placed under $100 security for thirty days.

Charles Hewitt, the escaped convict and former boarding-house thief, was sentenced to four months in the City Jail for returning to his old tricks. He stole a suit of clothes down and demolishing all the furniture, and general outfit from J. L. Cottrell, of 1004 Boulevard, from whom he rented a room, and was arrested with the clothes on. The charge of escaping from a road gang will be tried in Chesterfield county.
